3 Outstanding International Speakers

Workshop Theme: Community-led approaches to building back better after COVID 19

Live streamed and supported by expert faculty, this day will challenge your thinking about how to lead through a long and sustained crisis.

Paul 't Hart is a Professor of Public Administration at Utrecht University and Associate Dean of the Netherlands School of Public Administration in The Hague. He resumed both positions in mid-2011, after spending five years as Professor of Political Science at the Australian National University. Paul's research, teaching and consulting covers political and public sector leadership, policy evaluation, public accountability and crisis management.

Benjamin Taylor is founder and managing partner at RedQuadrant, and chief executive of the Public Service Transformation Academy. Benjamin is a non-exec director of Systems and Complexity in Organisation, visiting lecturer in applied systems thinking at Cass Business School, City University, and has lectured at Nottingham Business School and Oxford Said/HEC Paris.

Margaret (Meg) Wheatley has worked globally in many different roles: a speaker, teacher, community worker, consultant, advisor, formal leader. From these deep and varied experiences, she has developed the unshakable conviction that leaders must learn how to evoke people's inherent generosity, creativity, and need for community. As this world tears us apart, sane leadership on behalf of the human spirit is the only way forward.

Transforming and Adapting: the inner and outer work of leading

This workshop offers us the opportunity to explore the inner work that enables us to lead well. We explore who we are choosing to be as leaders for these times. It will help us to understand how we transform ourselves and our organisations and create our own futures in the midst of uncertainty and complexity. It is a vital conversation for leadership teams to be having about how to rise to adaptive challenges and transform their organisations.

Robbie has almost 20 years of experience designing and delivering innovative, transformational leadership and talent development programs for a diverse range of organisations and sectors. His passion is helping individuals and organisations develop the capacity to solve their own problems and overcome the complex challenges they face, using their ingenuity, skill and innovation.

Christine Nixon & Amanda Sinclair

Thursday 24 & Friday 25 June

Mooloolaba TAFE,
34 Lady Musgrave Dr, Mountain Creek

Leading Change: New models for a different context in 2021

This two-day workshop will be a pivotal experience in your leadership journey as we explore what we can learn from the leadership on display in the new models of popularist leadership. We will consider how the task of leadership has changed with COVID from more traditional style and focus towards building cultures of care. This is an important experience for community, public and private sector leaders as well as teams developing their shared approaches to developing their collaborative leadership practice.

Christine Nixon was the Chief Commissioner of Victoria Police between April 2001 and February 2009, being the first female Chief Commissioner in any Australian state police force.

Amanda Sinclair is an author, researcher, consultant and teacher in leadership, change, gender and diversity. A Professorial Fellow at Melbourne Business School, The University of Melbourne, her books include Doing Leadership Differently, Leadership for the Disillusioned and Leading Mindfully.
